

Constant Acceleration

Constant Acceleration

Constant Acceleration is a type of motion where an object's velocity changes at a constant rate over time. This means that the acceleration is constant and the object's velocity increases linearly with time.